Included in the gathering were brother Elks from Springfield, Willimantic, New London, and members of the Arthur Chatterdon company appearing this week at the Davis theatre and vaudeville actors from the Auditorium theatre.

The guests began to arrive early in the evening and a very pleasant time was passed until the call for the banquet, which came at 9 o'clock. The 250 diners, who brought their appetites with them, then sat down at several long tables spread in the big hall on the main floor and the delicious menu was soon disposed of. The menu follows:

After-dinner remarks by prominent mumbers of the lodge and visiting Elks were then in order.

An informal musical programme provided enjoyment for the remainder of the evening. Included in the numbers were selections by singers from the Auditorium theatre.

The two new bowling alleys were they busy until a late hour, while a number passed an enjoyable hour at the pool tables and in the card room. The committee in charge of the evening are to be complimented on the success attained by their efforts. Those on the committee were J. D. Lucy, John Heath, R. C. Plaut, J. F. Williams and C. K. Ladies' Missionary Society Meets. The Ladies' Missionary society of he Federated church met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Elmer Mulkins on North Main street and held their Thanksgiving meeting. A barrel was packed for the Hartshorn Memorial college of Richmond Virginis and topics pertaining to missions were discussed. Miss Alice Hayden rendered a vocal solo and the ladies discussed plans for a quilt tieing meet-ing to be held in December in the church. President Mrs. Elimer Mul-kins presided at the meeting.

Engine Company Elects Officers. At the annual meeting of Engine Co. No. 2, held in the engine house on North Main street, the following offi-ers were elected:

Florence J. Delaney, foreman; John
H. Mussell, first assistant; Michael H.
Delaney, second assistant; C. J.
Downes, secretary; Peter J. Gadie, dial greeting on behalf of the churches of the city, congratulating them upon the growth of the denomination which this appointment of a suffragan bishop indicated. Dr. Howe expressed his great obligation in an intellectual way to the great thinkers of the Episcopal church. To take these away from his library would be to skeletonize his collection of books, he said. He expressed great admiration of the tremendous work for Christianity done by the Episcopal church in the past 25 years and to its great missionary activity throughout the world.

In concluding Dr. Howe said he felt it was a time for the Christian churches to get close together on the great treasurer; James Daley, steward.

The reports read were favorable and showed that the company is in a good financial condition. P. F. Bray presided at the meeting.

It was a time for the Christian churches to get close together on the great fundamentals they believe. After all we must bear in mind that we are believers in the fundamentals, the things that the world needs. It's a time for us to mass our forces and face the great facts that are facing us today. It's a deeper question than British supremacy or Teutonic success. Out of this war we are going to live in a new world and there is, to be a massing of the Christian forces action on pure blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla makes pure blood. It is positively unequaled in the treatment of scrofula, catarrh, rheumatism, dyspepsia, loss of appetite, that tired feeling. and we have got to find out what is essential and paramount in the gospel of Jesus Christ for the world. These things that hinder are to be swept away, the Prince is on the throne, and let us get just as close as we can together on the things that are essential and important.

The final selection by the double quartette and the passing of the votes of thanks concluded the very successful banquet at about 10.45 o'clock.

The programmes for the evening contained cuts of the bishop and the suffragan bishop.
